

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Since implementation, this law has reduced the number of telemarketing calls I receive by over 75%. This has profoundly affected my time at home in the evenings. Indiana's law is important to consumers and should not be tampered with.